Gordon telephoned with this message:

A poll will be published by ITN tonight concerning Britain's attitude to the Common Market:

55% believe that the PM is handling the Common Market in the right way.

53% believe that if the PM was to settle for 2/3 of the £1,000m we would do very well.

BUT

An underlying trend which is growing is that Britain should get out of the Common Market.

34% believe that we should stay in

53% believe that we should get out.

A poll on voting intentions if there were to be an Election (not to be published)

Conservatives	42%
Labour	33%
Liberals	9%
Others	3%
Don't Knows	13%
