I have read with great interest Milton Friedman's piece on "Capitalism and the Jews". I would have, myself, thought it worth publishing but Alfred asserts strongly that it is not up to Milton Friedman's standard and that - and he has given me some details - it misses a number of considerations. I am not well-enough informed to be a personal arbiter for you.

Would you please, while I am writing, pass on to Arthur the attached copy of the letter I wrote to the then Prime Minister about Hayek. I attach to it the Shenfield piece in Criticon of November 1974.
