

PRIME MINISTER

I have made one or two additions because they more accurately reflect what was being said. Particularly the last where the family phone.

Sally Pearce, of Woman's Own, has sent the attached draft of her article, following her interview with you. She is anxious for the go-ahead.

lots of amendments which I do hope she will accept for reasons which I will explain.

Neville Gaffin says it looks OK and I cannot find much fault with it. We have identified one correction ("pillared" for "yellow" room).

The pillared room is yellow - have

You may, however, care to look closely at the bits I have sidelined and marked with a cross:

- P. 2 - six hours sleep a night is surely generous!
- P. 4 - I do not think the reference to Scotney Castle matters, especially as it is linked with a picture; and
- P. 4 - "a well publicised disagreement about his (Mark's) career plans".

② I don't do homework at the moment - although I do some cooking - some homework at weekends at No 10 if I can be.

③ Have changed the word 'dentist' - to 'two wonderful people who come in the morning'. As you know they are neither more than 'dentist' to us - they are almost part of the family.

Will Homer would be most grateful if homework were mentioned in connection with the press.
