Dear Ned,

PUBLIC OPINION BACKGROUND NOTE 79

The interviewing for our latest Gallup tracking study was conducted from 19th to 24th August and found no significant change in the level of support for the Social Democrats. The survey did find a slight upturn in the level of support for the Liberals. We will be paying special attention to any further changes in the level of support for the Liberal Party.

PUBLIC OPINION BACKGROUND NOTE 791. Introduction

Gallup conducted the interviewing for our latest 'tracking' study from 19th until 24th August and found almost no change in the level of support for the Conservative Party when compared with the results of the previous survey conducted 12/17 August. The latest study found a small fall in support for Labour, a small increase in Liberal support and almost no change in the level of support for the Social Democrats. Support for the Social Democrats would appear to have stabilised at around the 16/17% level since the Warrington by-election. Support for Labour is now at its lowest level since early May.

Full details of the level of support for the main parties in response to our three standard voting intention questions are shown below - these tables include 'don't knows' as a separate category.
