20th April 1983.

The Rt.Hon. Mrs. Margaret Thatcher, M.P.,
Prime Minister.

Personal & Confidential.

Dear Margaret,

I suggested to you, and you accepted the idea, that David Young should be asked by you to use the period of the Election, whenever it comes, to prepare for you to consider a list of priorities, in a time frame, for your next Government - classifying the main tasks that need to be done and suggesting where possible ways to tackle them.

You said that you would see him for a talk but that I should warn him now of your intention so that he can begin thinking.

I did so warn him yesterday, and am sending him a copy of this letter.

Ever,

Keith
