My dear Prime Minister

May I add to my publicly expressed thanks a more personal word of the most sincere gratitude for an unforgettable evening.

That you should have gathered such a distinguished assembly including Prime Ministers, Chancellors and leading financial luminaries from overseas, as well as the heart of the civil service, was a tremendous honour

for me and for Peggie and my family.

Everything was, if I may say so, as always organised superbly and not only was the occasion star-studded but an extremely happy one, surrounded by friends.

It, together with what you said, made a marvellously exciting evening which I shall not forget and for which I shall always be grateful.

With every good wish

Yours sincerely

Cordell
