

PRIME MINISTER

OVERSEAS VISITS: DRESS

You asked for a note.

19 September:

Black suit,

You begin with a visit to the European Space Research Centre where overalls will be provided.

You then have an Audience with Queen Beatrix, followed by a very small lunch with Mr. Lubbers.

P.S. Black outfit

Dinner that evening is formal - you will need a long dress.

20 September:

Grey suit,

On this day and the next you will be visiting the troops and will be outside quite a lot. You may need fairly warm clothes and flat shoes. The army will be providing Wellington boots but these may not be very photogenic. You may want to take some of your own.

P.S. ~~with~~
~~with~~*

Dinner that evening is "informal" but, since it is with the military, you may feel happier in a long dress.

21 September:

Antique suit,

There will be much getting on and off helicopters and I am told that you would be well advised to wear an A-line skirt, though I have no idea what that is.

Made / cloudy,

Dinner that evening is with Chancellor Kohl. It is an informal working dinner and you could wear either a long or a short dress - but you will be going straight from the dinner to the plane.

/CANADA

CANADA

Day temperatures are likely to be 64 degrees in Ottawa, 68 degrees in Toronto, and 60 degrees in Edmonton - going down to between 37 and 44 degrees overnight. Medium weight clothing is recommended. A raincoat might be useful.

25 September: Informal quiet supper with Lord Moran on arrival.

26 September: You have a lunch given by Mr. Trudeau, followed by your speech to Parliament.
After the press conference we leave for Toronto where Mr. Trudeau will give a large dinner. The dress is described as "Lounge Suit/Cocktail Dress".

27 September: Another dinner given by Mr. Trudeau, this time in Edmonton. Dress is again "Lounge Suit/Cocktail Dress".

UNITED STATES (hotels and stiches)

28 September: Leave for Washington. Dinner with US Congressmen, etc. - no details yet about dress.

29 September: Lunch with President Reagan.

Dinner: Churchill Award Speech. Formal.
On this occasion you will need to wear a long dress.

P.S. I am putting in a separate page about the possibility of spending ~~on~~ 30 September in New York - but there will be no formal meals there.
