Tues. 11th October

Prime Minister

PARTY CONFERENCE

1. I attach a photocopy of your programme as it stands at the moment.
2. We have just received an invitation from Sir Henry Plumb, (also attached) asking you to lunch on the Tuesday. In view of the European Elections next year, and the fact that you are not attending a "European function" at the Conference at present, would you like to accept this invitation? If so, we could move the photo-call to 3.30 p.m. on that afternoon, before you get down to work on the speech for the rest of the day.
3. The slogan "Britain Strong and Free" was used in 1951 as the Manifesto title, not a slogan at the Conference according to Derek. Are you happy for it to be used, therefore, at this Conference?
4. Make-up. Last year Joan Price came to Brighton, but I think the year before you had a make-up girl from Granada Television. Would you like me to ask Joan to come up to Blackpool on the morning of Friday 14th October, or would you like me to get hold of the girl from Granada again?

Why do me

We can't have a photo-call at Bar at 3.30!
Anyway it's not a very festive

No - non is John Curran
I thought
I thought the Tories would be better.
He is thinking about it

No - less expensive!
