Northern Ireland: Security

B/K

The Prime Minister recently received a private letter which contained inter alia a number of recommendations for improving security in Northern Ireland. In replying to the letter, the Prime Minister stated that these recommendations would be studied.

No further reply to the write is necessarily required. But you may care to ensure that the recommendations on security (which are contained in the enclosure to this letter) are looked at in the Department. Should you think that any of them merit further consideration by the Prime Minister, perhaps you would let me have advice in due course.
