Your talks with Chancellor Kohl

You will have three main occasions to talk to the Chancellor - a fairly lengthy tête-à-tête this evening, a working dinner, then a short tête-à-tête tomorrow, (there will also be a plenary tomorrow and he will be with you in Berlin).

It will be best to try to get our essential points over in the course of today. I talked with the Chancellor's Office this morning about the kind of subjects you might wish to raise. Based on that talk, you may like to have the following check list.

Pr. Reagan (Spanish checks)

Pipeline issue

Strategic industry

FOR YOUR MAIN TETE-A-TETE THIS EVENING

German/French Summit (volunteered by the Chancellor's Office)

✓ Impressions of Mitterrand

What was covered in the discussions about "security"?

The Chancellor's visit to Washington (15 November)

(also volunteered by the Chancellor's Office)

He wants your advice on the handling of President Reagan and the various personalities he will meet. This could lead in to :-

Trans-Atlantic problems and East/West relations

Pipeline

The non paper

Possibly Poland and your visit to Berlin

✓ Defence

Stress our commitment to the Central Front

Dual track decision on IMF. Problems ahead with the unilateralists.

Falklands

Ⓒ You sent the Chancellor a message yesterday. Try to get a commitment that Germany will not vote for the UN Resolution.
