April 27, 1981 R 13/5

Dear Madame Prime Minister:

Your thoughtful expression of concern for my welfare is deeply appreciated. Nancy and I are comforted to know that your thoughts and good wishes are with us. My injury is responding to treatment, and each day I am able to resume more work on the important policies and programs we have started.

Despite the rush of disturbing events two weeks ago, pleasant thoughts of your visit in February are still strong in our memories. It was not only a pleasure to renew our acquaintance, but even more special to get to know each other better.

The handsome historic map of America in the 1700s is just superb and is valued by all of us. Nancy, especially, has expressed pleasure with the beautiful porcelain music box -- they are delightful remembrances of your visit. Thank you also for your photograph which you so kindly inscribed and framed in silver.

Nancy joins me in sending our warm regards to you and Mr. Thatcher. I look forward to seeing you again in July in Ottawa.

Sincerely,

Ronald Reagan

A slightly mysterious letter. I think it must be in response to your original message of sympathy at the time of the attempt rather than to the final sentence of your most recent message (also sent on April 27). I am not sure what precisely the "disturbing events two weeks ago" were.

Dear Michael:

Enclosed is the long-awaited package from
The White House to The Prime Minister. I regret the delay which I can only attribute to the shortcomings of the U.S. mails.

Sincerely,

Edward J. Streater
