To suppress nationhood would be damaging & would hinder progress.

~~The friction it would~~

The turbulence it would cause would tend towards the fragmentation of Europe.

To work together as nations for greater unity of action in practical terms, freely negotiated is taking us in a close relationship with active concert & considerable momentum.

Further we must not regard the EEC as a protectionist. [sic] The progress which comes from reduction of barriers & removals of constraints to trade should be a spur to other nations to do likewise by positive negotiations through the GATT and ~~wider~~ through political co-operation.

Deregulation, competition, elimination of constraints on production & consumption.
Pressure for burden-sharing.

Judge not on amount spend but on results obtained.

?Tax a national competence

The market will reduce difference.

People must be able to identify with a smaller unit.
