THE PRIME MINISTER

Nigel Lawson's Reception Oct. 1989.

Returned from UTOGM Malaysia - on Wednesday

Early Thursday morning - hair set 8-8.30

Andrew came up ~~to see me~~ to say Nigel Lawson wanted to see me

Went down 8.50

Nigel said that he had not come the day before because I had only just returned to London and would be tired. The reason for his visit - which he had considered very carefully was that unless I agreed to make

Alan Walters, he would hand in his resignation as Chancellor. This seems to me

THE PRIME MINISTER

Nigel Lawson's Resignation Oct 1989.

Returned from CHOGM Malaysia – on Wednesday

Early Thursday morning – hair set 8-8.30

Andrew [Turnbull] came up ~~to see me~~ to say Nigel Lawson wanted to see me

Went down 8.50

Nigel said that he had not

which he had considered very carefully was that unless I agreed to sack

Alan Walters, he would hand in his resignation as Chancellor. This seemed to me

TO DOWNING STREET

an absurd, indeed reprehensible proposition

~~and~~ Man was a limited consultant

Nigel a Charter

Nigel explained that Man took a different view from him, his views sometimes came out in the press this made his taste intolerable

I duly concluded that Man was an adviser and that Nigel and I made the decision - so whatever the matter. However no Charter allowed himself to be affected by an adviser and in my view more could possibly result on the basis of a such a strongly and unwisely proposed. I said - go away that's your - I will see you later just now - I have a very busy day ahead - brief?

for Charles' Statement Questions Statement

an absurd, indeed reprehensible proposition ~~and~~ Alan was a trusted consultant & Nigel a Chancellor

Nigel explained that Alan took a different view from him, his views sometimes came out in the press & this made his task intolerable I duly countered that Alan was an adviser and that Nigel and I made the decisions – so what was the problem. Moreover no Chancellor allowed himself to be offput by an adviser and in my view no one could possibly resign on the basis of such a flimsy and unworthy proposal. I said go away & think again. I will see you after questions – I have a very busy day ahead – briefing for questions, Cabinet, ~~statement~~, Questions, Statement
