COMMUNITY CHARGE BENEFIT

I said that I would write to you describing the way in which poorer people will be helped to pay the community charge. There is to be a Community Charge Benefit Scheme which will be operated by local authorities from April 1990. Everybody who is liable either for a full personal community charge or for collective community charge contributions will be able to claim rebate; only registered students who are exempted from 80% of their liability will be unable to claim. It will replace the Community Charge Rebate Scheme now operating in Scotland.

2. People who are on Income Support will automatically get the maximum rebate of 80% of their liability. In addition to this, they will receive help towards the remaining 20% through the adjustments we have already made to Income Support levels; these now include £1.15 for a single person aged under 25, £1.30 for a single person over 25, and £2.30 for a couple. The adjustments are now subsumed within Income Support and will be subject to the autumn uprating. The examples below show the amount of Community Charge Benefit a single person and a couple would receive with the community charge set at £300.

3. Where the community charge is below £300, everyone on Income Support will be better off. Single people under 25 and married couples will have to contribute more than the Income Support amounts where the community charge is over £300, and single people over 25 will have to contribute more where it is over £339.

Single person receiving
Income Support

Couple receiving
Income Support

	£	£
Community charge	300.00	300.00 each
Weekly charge	5.75	11.50
Maximum rebate (80% of liability)	4.60	9.20
20% charge to pay	1.15	2.30
Assistance from IS	1.30	2.30

4. People with incomes above their Income Support levels may be entitled to rebate of less than 80%. The amount of their rebate will depend upon their financial resources, their personal circumstances, and the amount of community charge they have to pay. The method of calculation will follow very closely the method currently used to calculate rate rebates, but it will be based on a 15% taper for income which is significantly more generous than the present 20% taper used for calculating rate rebates, and we estimate that it will increase the numbers of people receiving rebates by about 1 million.

5. Our most recent published estimate is that about 11 million people in Great Britain, about one chargepayer in four, will receive rebates on their community charge. We are reworking these estimates to take account of the revised forecasts of community charge levels published on Wednesday, and of more up-to-date demographic and financial data, and will publish them as soon as possible.

6. I am copying this letter to Cabinet colleagues.

COMMUNITY CHARGE BENEFIT

The Prime Minister was grateful for your Secretary of State's minute of 21 July setting out the ways in which poor people would be helped to pay the Community Charge.

I should be grateful if you and copy recipients would ensure this letter is given a strictly limited circulation to named individuals.

The Prime Minister would be grateful if some work could be done on the possibility of setting the capital limit on eligibility for community charge rebates at £16,000, i.e. double the normal £8,000 limit, just for pensioner couples. She would be grateful if consideration could be given to the costs and implications of such a change, including the impact of the introduction of independent taxation for husband and wife in April 1990.

I am copying this letter only to Carys Evans (Chief Secretary's Office) Roger Bright (Department of the Environment) and Trevor Woolley (Cabinet Office).
