Falklands

- Argentina rejects proposals to end row by regularising immigration; US believed to be acting through Buenos Aires Ambassador to mediate; meanwhile Argentina plays up war of nerves and Guardian has few doubts we are preparing for a show of force.

Comment:

- Mail: Dangers a game of bluff through media.
- Sun: Govt showing welcome touch of strength in dealing with Argentine - what is equally welcome is Labour MPs seem if anything keener to send Fleet.
- Mirror: minor incident not a major crisis; should be settled by talking and not with soldiers or marines.
- Times questions whether we should have dramatised incident in first place but having done so it makes sense to give Argentina idea that a ship is somewhere around and will be used if necessary.
- Two women filming wildlife nearby for Anglia TV - one daughter of Euxton.
