24 September 1982

Valerie Pank and I have spoken to you about the programme of initial courtesy calls at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office for the new High Commissioner. I am now writing to confirm that three of the calls have been arranged for the afternoon of Thursday 30 September.

If you would be kind enough to arrange for the High Commissioner to come to the Park Door (Ambassadors' Entrance) of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office - Route 'B' on the attached map - at 3.20 p.m. on Thursday 30 September, I shall meet him and escort him on these calls.

We shall arrange the remaining calls as soon as it is convenient to the High Commissioner.

I am writing to confirm that the Prime Minister looks forward to seeing the new High Commissioner (the Hon William Young) at 10 Downing Street at 12.15 on Wednesday 13 October. I have explained to the Prime Minister's Private Secretary that Mr Young is arriving in London on 27 September and will have seen FCO Minister and officials and probably other Ministers before he calls on Mrs Thatcher.
