The Chancellor of the Exchequer has invited Mr Leigh-Pemberton for "a general chat" next Tuesday (14 June) at 11.30 am.

I would be grateful for your advice on what briefing, if any, should be provided for Mr Leigh-Pemberton.

NOTE FOR RECORD

Mr Leigh-Pemberton reported two points from his meeting with the Chancellor this morning:

- 1 Lawson proposed - and Mr Leigh-Pemberton readily agreed - that they should lunch together on an entirely private basis at regular intervals (perhaps once a month).
- 2 Mr Leigh-Pemberton told the Chancellor that he would look into the possibility of the Bank being rather more forthcoming about supplying internal Bank papers to the Treasury.
