

PRIME MINISTERYOUR VISIT TO ISRAEL

The Egyptian Ambassador came to see me this morning for an account of your visit to Israel which, he said, had been very well received in Egypt.

The Ambassador said that Mr. Osama Al Baz, President Mubarak's National Security Adviser, would be in London at the end of next week. President Mubarak wondered whether you could agree to see him very briefly. He thought it was important presentationally that, following your visit to Israel, you should be seen to be in direct contact not just with Jordan but also with Egypt.

This seems to me sensible and you could in fact find half an hour for Mr. Al Baz next Friday.

Agree to see him?

The Prime Minister has agreed to see Mr. Osama Al Baz at 1200 on Friday 6 June. I should be grateful if this could be conveyed to the Egyptian Ambassador. The Prime Minister would like to see Mr. Al Baz with only the Ambassador present on the Egyptian side. I should be grateful for a brief for the meeting.
