EUROPEAN COUNCIL

Chancellor Kohl has opted for a breakfast meeting with you on the first morning of the Council at 0815. He will come to your hotel.

May I propose to Mr. Lubbers that you and he should meet the previous evening in Copenhagen (you should arrive there about 8pm)? Would you want to offer him a working supper?

EUROPEAN COUNCIL

I have now arranged with Chancellor Kohl's office that he and the Prime Minister will meet at 0815 on Friday 4 December in Copenhagen. The meeting would be for up to one-and-a-half hours. The Chancellor will come to the Prime Minister's hotel for the meeting, which might start with breakfast. Herr Hartmann will accompany the Chancellor as note-taker.

I should be grateful if the Conference Officer could arrange for breakfast for five (including the interpreter) in the Prime Minister's suite.
